INCOME LIMITS AND TENANT ELIGIBILITY

Program eligibility determines whether applicants are eligible to reside in the specific property to which they have applied. Current income limits are attached and will be posted in the management office. Households' total annual income cannot exceed the maximum income limits for their household size.

A Households' rent-to-income ratio (R/I) should not exceed 40%. In very rare instances, a higher ratio may be acceptable; i.e., the applicant has additional benefits, such as food stamps, or other non-taxable income. The applicants' debt load must also be factored in to determine one's ability to consistently pay the rent. There are some exceptions:

- If the household holds a Section 8 voucher or has some other form of long term housing assistance that will reduce their R/I to less than 40%, then they are exempted from this requirement.
- When a households' income is derived from both taxable and non-taxable sources; and/or they have a rental payment history that demonstrates their ability to pay more than the 40% of their income towards rent and other debt load is low enough that there is sufficient disposable income to permit the higher rent to income ratio.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

All interested persons are encouraged to complete a Questionnaire first to determine the rental community that best suits their needs and eligibility status.

Questionnaires will be available in the office during normal business hours or by requesting a questionnaire (pre-application) by telephone, via the internet at www.pasoroblesha.org or in writing. If an applicant is planning to use their Section 8 voucher or utilize the Project Based Voucher assistance program, they need to apply directly to the Housing Authority of San Luis Obispo (HASLO) on their website at www.HASLO.org.

Interested persons must complete a Questionnaire and be willing to submit to credit history, rental history, criminal background inquiry, as well as income and asset verifications. When vacancies exist, signed and dated applications will be processed on a first come, first served basis unless there is specific preference requirement that needs to be fulfilled. All complete applications will be placed on the waiting list as they are received. The application must be completed and signed by the head of household and all household members 18 years of age and older before an application can be considered complete.
